

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

10           Centering member of a plane tool useful for a packaging production machine, comprising a boss projecting from a base for allowing permanent fastening of the tool in at least one aperture in one of the sides of the plane tool without adding any mechanical fastening element and without adding any material or any adhesive element. The shape of the boss and of its head are disclosed.